

Ensuring High-Quality Care at Critical Access Hospitals

Critical access hospitals (CAH) deliver vital healthcare services to their communities.

While your CAH may not be required to have advanced practice professionals or specialists on staff, there are many benefits to having them as locum tenens providers to augment your workforce.

THE QUALIVIS DIFFERENCE

- We deliver competitive rates for fair market pricing with no administrative, daily, seasonal or additional fees to reduce cost and locum expenditures.
- Access our 40+ pre-vetted vendors on our Partner Network. We deliver an exceptional partner experience, including a 29-day guaranteed payment, that fosters a high level of engagement for our clients' open positions.
- A single point of contact streamlines communication between our internal logistics team to ensure your staffing needs are met in a timely manner.
- Candidates undergo a thorough vetting process by account management and review teams under the guidance of our in-house Chief Medical Officer.

Locum Tenens Benefits to Critical Access Hospitals:

By using locum tenens providers, you can meet the critical need of maintaining a patient base for your CAH, allowing you to focus on securing a permanent replacement.

Prevent Provider Burnout

To prevent burnout of your permanent physicians and offer respite care, it's worth considering incorporating a recurring locum provider into your current schedule, whether it's weekend call coverage or every other week.

Expand Your Services

Recurring locum tenens help to expand the healthcare services delivered in your community whether it be CRNAs, anesthesiologists, hospitalists, etc. to provide continuity of care.

Generate Revenue

Our credentialing and compliance team will enroll your locum tenens providers with local payors during the privileging process. All revenue generated by the locum tenens provider stays at the hospital; whether generated in the clinic, inpatient or surgical setting.

Whether your CAH needs one shift or ongoing coverage, there is no minimum or maximum assignment lengths. If you decide to extend a permanent placement offer to a locum tenens provider, Qualivis has pre-negotiated conversion terms to save your hospital thousands in fees.

Put locum tenens to work for your CAH with Qualivis' strategic approach.
